Collaboration for Compliance

ARLINGTON, VA – Sunflower Systems®, the leader in enterprise asset management software and solutions, is proud to announce Skip Adolph’s participation at NCMA Irvine Chapter’s one-day symposium “Innovative Ways of Contracting”.

Adolph’s presentation, “Collaboration for Compliance”, included the inter-relations between contracts and property management to achieve contract compliance. The value of established communication channels between the two functions, from contract proposal to contract closure, was Adolph’s theme.

About Skip Adolph

Skip Adolph, CPPM CF, is an Account Advisor and Business Analyst with Sunflower Systems where he performs business process analysis, regulatory gap analysis, data analysis, system configuration and functional process designs in preparation for asset management system software installation.
