Sunflower Systems Lombardo Appointed Managing Editor of NPMA's The Property Professional Magazine

Sunflower Systems®, the leader in enterprise asset management software and solutions announces that Meg Lombardo, CPPS has been appointed Managing Editor of NPMA's The Property Professional Magazine.

NPMA is the leading membership association for personal property and fixed-asset professionals. The Property Professional magazine is published bimonthly and includes articles on asset management best practices, updates to policy and regulations and other mission-critical information for asset management professionals. As Managing Editor, Ms. Lombardo will be responsible for collaborating with the National Editor and Production Editor in determining the theme of each content for edition in addition to the solicitation and selection of articles for publication.

"I am thrilled Meg has accepted the Managing Editor position for The Property Professional. She has been a regular contributor to the publication over the years, has strong editorial skills, and has an excellent ability to coach others through the writing process", says Jessica Dzara, NPMA Vice president of Marketing and Communications.

Meg Lombardo, CPPS, is a Consultant with Sunflower Systems. She has spent over fifteen years providing management consulting and advisory expertise focused in the areas of Information Technology and Strategic planning in both federal and commercial markets. Ms. Lombardo works closely with government contractors, federal civilian agencies and institutions of higher education in helping them improve their asset management operations and currently serves as Vice-President of the NPMA Queen City chapter.
